1 - Prologe

A mother and her infant child lay in the heart of the Forest of Rahan. The mother was fatally wounded trying to flee her home, the city of Rahan, where war had come. She was fearful for her child. She knew she would die soon, and if no one found her, the child(Whose name is Sapphire) would to. She had all but lost hope, when an elder dragon(Java) saw them, listened to the mother's plea, and promised the mother that he would watch and care for Sapphire. Upon hearing this, the mother smiled knowing her daughter was safe, then died. Java took Sapphire into his house in the middle of the Dragon City, near where she and her mother were found. Upon entering, he took a beautiful blue gem on a chain and placed it around her neck. They buried the mother where she was found and placed a grave there with engraved flowers and the name "Cecialaiya Pegasus" on it.

2 - The Beginning

Sapphire sat on a rock near the entrance to Dragon City, letting the cool night air blow her hair all over. Still wearing the blue water gem given to her at birth, and it had a strange effect on her. She had blueish, sapphire eyes(hence her name); long blond hair down to her waist; and was wearing a pair of jeans with a greenish shirt. The odd things about her were the pearly blue wings bursting from her shoulders. She lounged there, enjoying the crisp night air until she heard her father, Java, calling her. With a sigh, she slid off the boulder she had been sitting on and flew to her house.

3 - A Surprise

When she got there, she saw him waiting for her. Noticing the sad look on his face she became worried. "What's wrong father?" she asked in a high British accent. "You 15 years old today, Sapphire. It's time I told you about your mother." Java replied. Sapphire became excited. Her father had never talked about her mother before. "Follow me" he said.

4 - A Family Reunion, eh sorta

After a little while, they reached her mother's grave.

"What? Whose grave is this?" Sapphire asked. "Your mother's." "Huh? What do you mean?" Java told her the story of how she came there. "So my mother was a human." "Yes." "Does that mean I am human also?" "No. Thanks to that stone I gave you, your half-human, half-dragon. A Dragoon. I'm sorry, I should have told you sooner." "No. I wouldn't have been able to handle it. Thanks for waiting. Do you know where I came from?" "Yes. You come from the city of Rahan, to the north." Silence. Sapphire wanted to think it over. All these years she thought that she was born different from the other dragons, that was what she was told. She was told that she had a birth defect that happened every 100,000,000 years. All this time, she wasn't a pureblood dragon like she thought. She was a half-blood. "Half-blood dragon or no, your still my little Sapphire." "Your right, let's go home."

5 - A New Adventure

Sapphire lay awake in bed, thinking. "I'm going to Rahan tomorrow to see if anybody knew my mom." Early the next morning she talked with her dad. Outside Dragon City was a whirlwind of activity. "Dad, I want to go to Rahan to see if anybody knew my mother." "Very well, however I'll need to use some cloaking magic to hide you wings. Use them if you need to, however when you do, the magic will deactivate." "Thanks dad." "Go now and be careful."

6 - A New Adventure

Sapphire was nervous as she entered the city. Her wings were cloaked, still, she was careful as she passed the gate. She spotted a strong young man leaning against a building. "Excuse me, but do you know Cecialaiya Pegasus?" "She was my mother. She and my sister disappeared during the war. I'm James Pegasus." "James it's me, Sapphire! Come with me, I'll show you my home!" She showed him her wings and took him to her home in Dragon City.

7 - James And Sapphire

“WOW!” James was impressed by Dragon City’s beautiful landscape. Java, alerted by James scream, chuckled at the scene in front of him. “Well what do we have here?” James turned around in fear, but Sapphire ran forward screaming “Father!” James looked confused for a moment, until Sapphire explained everything that had happened. “I’ve explained, now it’s your turn.” “Okay, Well.... When war had come to Rahan, a strange point was discovered. Our mom and dad were the king and queen! We are the prince and princess! They tried to kill us so they could rule.” “Oh my... Why, you can stay here with me and Java!” “O.K.”

8 - A Plan

“James?” Sapphire looked over at her brothers bed. “What’s wrong Sapphire?” James asked sleepily. “We have to stop the war in Rahan.” “How?” James questioned. “We will help.” Java said, making James and Sapphire jump. “Sorry,” he said apologetically, “I was coming to check on you two, and I couldn’t help overhearing.” “That ok, we need all the help we can get.” Sapphire assured him. “We’ll need to round up all the dragons to help,” Java thought out loud, “but, still leave some to protect the little dragons, right?” Sapphire questioned. “Yes.” Java answered. “Tomorrow, we start preparing.”

9 - The War's Conclusion

“ATTACK!” The voice rang out across the bloody plain that was Rahan. Screams echoed across it. One soldier fell from exhaustion. One of the enemy’s soldiers stood above him, raising his sword. “Swiftwing attack!” Sapphire screamed. Swiftwing flew down and scorched the enemy soldier. The allied soldier who fell turned to thank her, but stopped in surprise when he saw her. “Come on, move!” She said. Sapphire flew back up in the sky. She commanded the dragons that came with her to attack the enemy. Soon, there were none left alive except for the fleeing soldiers.

10 - Home Coming

Sapphire ran to her brother, who was lying in a pool of blood. "James!" she screamed. Java stepped over toward him and placed a greenish gem on a chain around his neck. It flashed, then James stood up, just fine. "Whew, thanks Java!" he yelled. He turned to Sapphire, who was staring. She had reason to. Two pearly green wings had sprouted out of his shoulders. "You're a Dragoon now!" Sapphire yelled. James smiled happily, looking at his back. "You can live with us now!!" He took a look at Sapphire, then Rahan, the only home he ever knew. After a long look, he grabbed Sapphire's hand and flew to the Dragon City with her, Java and the other Dragons. After a well deserved nap, who knows what adventures they'll have next!
