

The Moonlight Realm (starring YOU!)

By ohmygoshamy

Submitted: November 12, 2008

Updated: November 13, 2008

What will happen when a mermaid princess (YOU) goes to Hogwarts for the first time, when she has lived on an island her whole life?

Provided by Fanart Central.

<http://www.fanart-central.net/stories/user/ohmygoshamy/54844/The-Moonlight-Realm-starring-YOU>

Chapter 1 - The Moonlight Realm- Introduction	2
Chapter 2 - Figure in the Sand	4
Chapter 3 - The Boy	5

1 - The Moonlight Realm- Introduction

Your name is April Alana Araselly Gloria Crystal Angelina Serenity Diamond Pacific Holly Faythe Athena Persephone Electra Isabella Sapphire Moonlight. Your name is so long because royalty of the Moonlight Realm must retain the history of the former Queens by leaving their grandmothers' names in their name. That's right, royalty. You are the princess of the Moonlight Realm, an unplotable underwater kingdom and an island that is surrounded by a wall of constant storms on the equator. This area is called the "Moonlight" realm because the air during the day is filled with mist and vapor from the surrounding storms and heat. But at night, when the moonlight shines, all the lush vegetation in the reef and on the island come to life and bloom fragrantly, and it is said that many of the creatures depend on the moon for energy. The moon is always full in the Moonlight Realm. The island and reef are considered a "realm" because the rest of the world wasn't aware it existed until, 16 years ago, a powerful wizard sailed through the storm and discovered the island. He is your father. You are the first mermaid-witch to ever exist, and you are a symbol of unity among all magical creatures and wizards. The world rejoiced when you were born, and you were given many gifts. At your birth, an angel blessed you with the ability to grow wings and become an angel whenever you wish. The angel also gave you a Pegasus-Unicorn named Coloma to act as a guardian for you. In your angel form, you are immortal and invincible. Many Seers had prophecies that you would bring complete peace and unity to the world. You are more famous than Harry Potter was when he was your age. However, you have been kept away from the Wizarding world because your parents wanted you to have a normal, happy childhood away from the harsh public eye. As a result, no one knows what you look like.

Abilities:

You have all the abilities of a normal witch, and so much more. You were privately educated by your father and world-renowned professors, who taught you well in every subject. You have taken every wizarding test you would need to graduate from a wizarding school, including the N.E.W.T.S. and O.W.L.s. Your father is one of the best aurors in the Ministry of Magic, so you have been taught by the best. This education helped you discover many of your unique talents that no other witch or wizard possesses: you can control water and weather, and perform spells without the aid of a wand.

Since you are also a mermaid (you can transform whenever you want), you can breathe underwater and talk to animals via telepathy, and sing beautifully. Your voice is more beautiful and melodic than any witch or human's, and you have perfect pitch. You can transform into an angel whenever you want. You have your witch abilities in all forms, so you can still perform spells. You are very well educated, and can speak fluent English, French, Spanish, Saltwater Mer (or Moonish), and Freshwater Mer.

Appearance:

When you are a mermaid, you have aquamarine-green eyes with blue speckles. Your hair is thick caramel and blonde ringlets that dance in the waves and cute wavy bangs across your forehead that are held in place with your sparkling pearl crown. Your hair length is down to your lower back in this form. Your fin is a teal color with turquoise dots along the edge. Your scales sparkle like gems, and you have fins that are connected to your forearms. They can fan out like a fish's fins, and they are the same color as your tail.

When you are a Witch, you have pure electric-green eyes that dazzle underneath your straight, platinum-blonde cut-across bangs. Your hair is down to your knees in this form, and perfectly straight.

When you are an angel, your eyes are very unique: they are yellow around your pupil, but are also bright turquoise around this yellow ring. Your hair becomes wild, layered waves that with side bangs, and your hair gains a blue tint, but is still platinum blonde.

You have a nice, toned body with a perfect hourglass shape. You have 34-C breasts and you are 5 feet, 6 inches tall. You have full lips, lush eyelashes, and a healthy and clear complexion. Your skin seems to glow, especially in the moonlight.

You were born in the summer. For your 16th birthday, your parents enrolled you at Hogwarts School of Witchcraft and Wizardry, so you could finally see the magical world outside of the Moonlight Realm. This is where the story begins. ~.^

2 - Figure in the Sand

Today was sunnier than usual. The sunlight reflected off of the dew on the green and yellow palm fronds that surrounded the lagoon. The palms cast green shadows across your naked body as your skin glistened in the shafts of light coming through the trees. Large white flowers at the edge of the lagoon responded to the unusual amount of light, released their perfume, which, combined with the fragrance of the ripe fruits, made you drowsy. The waterfall nearby melodically spilled over marble white rocks into the warm, blue lagoon. Hummingbirds glinted in the light and buzzed from flower to flower before taking a bath in the waterfall. You put down your book, Hogwarts: A History, and rolled over the large, smooth rock you were laying on that extended over the water. You dipped your hand in as small, colorful minnows quickly swam away. It was a comfortable, lukewarm temperature, and the water was clean enough to drink from. Your straight, platinum-blonde hair sparkled in the strips of light coming from above, while your face was illuminated by the green light from the lagoon. As noon approached, the ever-lasting moisture turned to steam and began to evaporate into the sky. The white rock you were laying on grew hot against your sweating skin, and you decided to cool off in the ocean and finish your book later.

For the first time in days, the sky above the island was completely clear. The sun beat down on the sparkling sandbar, where you noticed a dark shape laying near the water. Curiously, you made your way across the blazing sand. You stopped as you realized what it was.

~~~~~

AN: Cliffhanger! I hope you liked it! Please comment and vote!

3 - The Boy

"Curiously, you made your way across the blazing sand. You stopped as you realized what it was."

~~~~~

It was a human, you were sure of it. You quickly crossed the sand and peered at the body. It was a young, muscular boy, about your age, wearing only a pair of tattered pants. Kneeling next to him, you moved his damp, blonde hair out of his face. His face was very handsome, and his complexion was pale.

You knew he must have drowned, and he may still have a chance at life. You put your ear against his chest, and you could hear a very faint heartbeat.

"There's still time" you thought.

You placed your hands over his ribs and muttered a spell. The water that had filled his lungs rose from his mouth, and you cast it away into the sand. You quickly put your lips against his and blew your sweet breath into his mouth. His lips were soft, and the sun had warmed him. After you pulled away, his grey-blue eyes flickered open and he breathed deeply before fully becoming aware of where he was. He sat up on an elbow slowly and gawked at you with his mouth slightly open.

You sat back kneeling, eyeing him curiously. You had never seen a human boy your age before. Heck, you had never seen a YOUNG human boy before, only old wizards! Of course, there were mermen your age, but they all had boring personalities and nothing to say.

The warm wind blew across the shore, combing through your long hair. "Who are you?" you asked in Mer. The boy seemed perplexed. You giggled.

"Oh, I'm sorry. Do you speak English?" you asked in English. The boy nodded once, slowly. You smiled warmly at him, displaying your perfect white teeth.

"What is your name?" You asked.

"Sc-scorpius... My name is Scorpius." He answered before turning his head to cough. He seemed nervous, so you decided to take his hand. You looked into his eyes, and he returned your smile.

"Hello, Scorpius. My name is..." You paused. "My name is Sapphire." You said. You resorted to using your eldest grandmother's name, in case this boy was from the wizarding world. You could sense a bit of magical energy about him.

"Aren't you thirsty? You must be parched from all that seawater! Come with me." You said, taking his other hand and standing. You gracefully crossed the sand with him, hand-in-hand. Before long, you reached the peaceful lagoon where you had been reading.

"This water is safe to drink. The cleanest water is by the waterfall. Help yourself." You said to him. He quickly approached the small waterfall and drank directly from the fall. While he cooled himself off in the waterfall, you found your book and hid it in the branches of a lush fruit tree.

You picked one of the pale red fruits and approached him. Water trickled over his broad shoulders as his back was planted firmly against the smooth rock behind the fall.

Smiling slightly, you stepped directly in front of him and placed your lips on his. He seemed surprised at first, but then he responded, kissing your soft lips deeply. You guided his hands to your waist and pressed your body against him.

~~~~~

Ooooooooooh! I wonder what's going to happen next?? Wait for the next one! Please comment and tell me what you think! I hope you enjoyed it!